Content

This course deals with general design and practice-based design research theory, the development of design theory, and the epistemological foundations of design research.

Learning Outcomes

To achieve a passing grade, the doctoral student shall:

1. Demonstrate intimate knowledge of design theory in general and practice-based design research theories in particular.
2. Demonstrate the ability to conduct artistic analysis and synthesis and independently and critically review and assess new and complex phenomena, issues, and situations.
3. Demonstrate the ability to identify and formulate questions of significant relevance to artistic practice through research with scholarly precision critically, autonomously and creatively.
4. Demonstrate intimate knowledge regarding the epistemological foundations of practice-based design research.

Forms of Teaching

The course consists of seminars and project-based supervision.

The language of instruction is English.

Forms of Examination

The course is examined in relation to the intended learning outcomes through the following components:

- Seminars (Outcomes 1, 2, and 4), 2.5 higher education credits. Grading scale: Pass/Fail.
- Documentation of project work (Outcomes 1, 2, and 3), 2.5 higher education credits. Grading scale: Pass/Fail.
